Job Description

MedConference LLC, the leading provider of live direct-to-physician web conferencing solutions to the Life Sciences industry, has an immediate opening for a Flash Programmer/Developer in our Norristown, Pennsylvania headquarters.

MedConference LLC provides a turnkey solution for corporate customers using web-conferencing and on-demand delivery methods to communicate with employees and customers. Our deliverables require custom Flash development and multimedia programming, focusing on UI design, usability, sensible functionality, and streaming media. **Please note, this position does not focus on the animation side of Flash. This is a time-sensitive position as we must ensure that project objectives are accomplished according to customer specifications within established timelines.

As a result of our continued growth, MedConference LLC has an immediate opening for a Flash Programmer/Developer that will interface with project managers and clients to meet project demands.

Key Responsibilities
